PRESENTATION

Coinsence offers a blockchain based decentral collaboration and value exchange platform that enables projects, organizations, and communities to issue their own crypto assets and currencies to boost their activities and share resources. Within the regulatory sandbox framework of the Tunisian Central Bank, the platform enables transparent transactions and collective management of monetary funds.

Following the purpose of accelerating the transition towards a sustainable and inclusive economy by building instruments that strengthen trust and facilitate the decentral collaboration and sharing on a global scale, and with the support of the German development agency GIZ, Coinsence is launching in cooperation with diverse local partners and diaspora organizations different networks that are using community currencies as rewarding systems and as complementary funding and value exchange solutions.
